A TRINITY STORY

A man was experiencing a financial crisis and he promised to help his daughter through the crisis by reading her a bedtime story to her every night for 100 days. He kept his promise, and on the 100th day they decided to continue. He read to her every night after that, year after year, until the night before she went to university.

If we recall that Jesus is the Word of the Father, expressed in Scripture through the power of the Holy Spirit, then this image of the faithful father reading to his daughter in the face of adversity can become a beautiful analogy of how the Trinity has accompanied us as a community throughout history and as individuals throughout our own lives.

God who has been with us from the beginning, creating and comforting, promising and protecting. The Father.

God who has been one of us, hungry and hopeful, tired and triumphant. The Son.

God who guides us, teaching and trustworthy, mentor and minder. The Spirit.

It is the Trinity that envelops us in love – past, present and future; above, beyond, within; fulfilling all our needs.
